BATTERIES:

Brooklyn—Smith and Miller.
Cleveland—Mails and O'Neill.

League Park, Cleveland, Oct. 11.—The Cleveland Indians shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers by a score of 1 to 0 and the World's Series championship is almost in their grasp. It was a pitching duel between two left-handers, Duster Mails for the Indians and Sherrod Smith for the Dodgers. The tide turned in favor of the home folks in the sixth inning when Speaker singled and Burns smashed a double to the fence, scoring the Indians' manager with the only run of the game. An analysis of the following official box score shows how the Indians took the game.

DAUGHTER OF
CENSUS DIRECTOR
DIES FROM POISON

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Miss Esther Rogers, a daughter of Samuel J. Rogers, director of the United States census bureau at Washington, died in a hospital here early today under circumstances that indicated she had ended her life with poison, according to the police.
Miss Rogers, who was 23 years old, was found in her boarding house, late last night, suffering from the effects of poison.
Mr. Rogers was notified of her death by poison. He said she had not been in the best of health for some time, but he did not suspect her of poisoning herself.
She was employed in this city as a stenographer.

PUPILS WARNED TO PREVENT FIRES

Fire prevention day was observed in all Janesville public schools today, according to Frank Holt, superintendent. The programs varied, the principals of each school arranging a different one.
Not only was fire prevention impressed upon the pupils but accident prevention as well. Fire drill in each of the schools was one of the features of the day.

WILSON GIVES OUT
NOTES OF ADDRESS
AT PEACE PARLEY

ADD ANOTHER CHAPTER
TO CONTROVERSY OVER
PROMISE OF MILITARY AID.

ANSWERS SPENCER

Charges Printed for Year of Promise of Fleet and Army to Help Minor States.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Oct. 11.—The White House made public today what was described as an "official version" of President Wilson's address at the eighth plenary session of the Paris peace conference. The exact wording of this address, directed to the representatives of Roumania, Serbia and Czechoslovakia, has been the subject of a controversy between the president and Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri.

The senator has declared in a political speech that the president had promised Roumania and Serbia that "if any nation ever invaded their territory he would send the American army across the seas to defend their boundary lines."

Wilson Denies Statement.
Mr. Wilson in a telegram to the senator on October 5, said that this statement was false. In reply Senator Spencer called for the official record, saying that the statement which he had referred to was in the stenographic notes in the eighth plenary session, in which the president was reported to have said:

"I must not forget that it is the final guarantee of peace of the world. If this world is again troubled, if the United States will send to this side of the ocean their army and their fleet."

The president's words as given in the official record are:

"Wilson Is Quoted.
"How can a power like the United States, for example, and I can speak for no other after signing the treaty, if it contains elements which they don't believe will be permanent for three thousand miles away across the sea, and report to the people that it is a guarantee of peace of the world? It cannot do so. And yet there underlies all of these transactions the expectation of the peace treaty of the world."

Stenographer Gives Copy.
The official stenographic report of the president's address was furnished to the White House last week by Fred A. Carlson, of Chicago, who was an official stenographer at the Paris peace conference, and who wrote that he "would be glad to swear to the accuracy" of the transcript.

Carlson's letter was dated October 6 and was addressed to Charles T. Swann, stenographer, to the president. He explained that he had read the transcript and found it to be correct; that he had just gone over his notes and that he could find no mistake in the transcript. He also stated that the stenographic report was furnished to the White House last week by Fred A. Carlson, of Chicago, who was an official stenographer at the Paris peace conference, and who wrote that he "would be glad to swear to the accuracy" of the transcript.

Wilson Is Misquoted.
"I wish I were in a position to make public what the president said, but I am not. For I feel that the president is sadly misquoted, but of course, as the meeting was a secret one, I can say nothing."

President Wilson's telegram of October 5 said the statement which he had attributed to the president was "a fair and accurate statement of the substance of the conversation between the president and the senator."

London, Oct. 11.—Terence Mac Swinny, Lord Mayor of Cork, passed a fairly good night at Bristol prison, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self Determination League. Condition was said to be virtually the same as yesterday. This is the sixtieth day of the Lord Mayor's hunger strike.

First Ward Is Scene of Daring Hold-Up; Alleged Desperado Held at Jail

Con. J. Hayes, Contractor, Is Victim but Beats Off Assailant
Armed with Revolver—Alleged Holdup Man Held Under $5,000 Bail—Is Only 24 Years Old.

Held up at the point of a .32 calibre revolver while on his way home Saturday night, Con. J. Hayes, contractor, refused to obey the command of "Throw up your hands!" and a struggle ensued in which his assailant escaped. A half dozen policemen combed the first ward for 35 minutes when they arrested Charles Buchanan, 24, a railroad man, whom Hayes later identified as the desperado.

Buchanan is held at the county jail under $5,000 bail. Arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of assault with intent to rob, he was given an examination, and was bound over for trial, October 20.

Had $110 in Cash.
The holdup was staged about 10:15 o'clock on Ravine street as Mr. Hayes was walking to his home, 440 North Chatham. His refusal to yield to the command of his assailant saved him $110 which he had in his pocketbook.

On the witness stand today, Hayes told the following story:
"As I approached the intersection of Pearl street, I noticed a man leaning against the fire alarm box, but thought nothing of it. When I got five feet from him he stepped out and faced me, pointing the gun in my face. He ordered me to throw up my hands and began calling me vile names."

Clapped and Told.
"I asked him what he was trying to do and then grabbed his right hand with my left. We grappled and both fell down. He started to get away, but I grabbed him by the collar and he tried to run. I grabbed him by the collar and he tried to run. I grabbed him by the collar and he tried to run."

He turned around and with the gun pointed at me started to back away, telling me not to come or he would shoot me. I told him to stop and get away from me. He tried to run but I grabbed him by the collar and he tried to run. I grabbed him by the collar and he tried to run."

Found on Street Car.
Two officers went to the scene in the patrol, two started off on foot and one on a street car. At the North Academy street, he saw Buchanan on a passing street car and arrested him.

When searched by the police station, he was found tucked down his back. He had a searchlight and a skeleton key in his pockets.

Buchanan says he came to Janesville about two months ago from Chicago to work for the Samsco company. He had been employed at the Samsco company for two months and was working on a street car when he was arrested.

Had Frightened Woman.
Had frightened woman, confessed by him yesterday and confessed to him the kidnapping and the smothering of the child.

Pasquale told him he had gone into a room where the baby was sleeping, put the child under his coat, and while he was getting down, he heard a noise, which he thought was the baby crying. He ran away as soon as he reached the street and when he was found by the police, he was holding the baby in his arms.

Body Is Sought.
Major Adams said that while Pasquale had told him what he had done with the body he would not make that public until the locality could be searched.

Major Adams, however, that Captain Samuel Gearhart had been sent to the vicinity of Egg Harbor, N. J.

Duluth.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Duluth, Minn., Oct. 11.—Aided by a light rain which fell yesterday and only a low velocity wind, several hundred men fighting fires in northern Minnesota were hopeful of further checking the flames today.

The most serious fires were reported in the vicinity of Kelsey, 30 miles from here where stretches of meadow lands and timber were reported burning. More than fifty national guardsmen, members of the Duluth tank corps, sent from Duluth late last night, were aiding the settlers in battling the flames in this district.

CRISIS IS REACHED IN CUBAN FINANCES

Havana, Oct. 11.—Blame for the Cuban financial crisis was placed on "exaggerated estimates" of banking moratorium, which will expire legally on December 1, or to extend the period, if deemed advisable.

Present conditions in Cuba are said by the decree to be due "in large part to the mass of business transacted during a state of prosperity, tightness of foreign markets and the fall in the price of sugar."

The moratorium does not affect the obligations of the National Bank of Cuba as government fiscal agent and depository.

WHEAT TRADERS
MOVE BACK TO PIT

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Wheat traders on a change here today moved back to the pit, which in years gone by was widely celebrated as the scene of operations for big speculators in breadstuffs.

For the first time since trading in future deliveries of wheat was discontinued during the World war, the pit today was devoted to dealings in wheat. "O-late the corn crowd has occupied the pit for which a long while previous was wholly out of use."

Business in wheat futures has enlarged so much recently that the move back to the old quarters could not well be further delayed.

BOUNDARY FIXED

Independence of Ukraine and White Russia Is Recognized.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Riga, Oct. 11.—Polish and bolshevik delegates will sign an armistice agreement at Blackhead House this afternoon. Hostilities will cease 4 days after signature of the convention.

The armistice will run for 21 days and 48 hours notice will be necessary before either side can legally break it. If it is not broken for 21 days it will continue automatically for an indefinite period, with a provision it may be broken on 14 days notice.

An agreement was reached as to the boundary line between Poland and White Russia and Ukraine. It runs, roughly, from Drissa, on the Dvinsk river, east of the city of Pskov, southward, passing near Baranovichi. It passes west of Rovno and reaches the Dniester river east of Kamenetz-Podolsk.

The armistice recognizes the independence of the Ukraine and White Russia.

The preliminary peace treaty to be signed tonight, and the other a map.

POLES DISAVOW

PROPOSAL TO MAKE
VILNA FREE ZONE REJECTED

Warsaw, Oct. 11.—Occupation of Vilna late Saturday followed rejection by General Zeligowski of proposals by the French to create Vilna as a free zone, a move which the city were Polish and Lithuanians as reported Saturday night.

Before entering the city General Zeligowski said he had received the resignations to Polish army headquarters.

Cabinet to Meet.
A cabinet meeting tonight will consider General Zeligowski's occupation of Vilna.

General Sikorski said he had been unable to communicate with General Zeligowski since the latter entered Vilna. He added that there was great excitement in the Vilna district, which had been occupied by the Lithuanian troops before the arrival of the Poles.

General Zeligowski in his resignation considering the armistice as agreed upon has been a disadvantage to us and the population of the city. He added that he had decided to leave Vilna and to return to the Lithuanian troops before the arrival of the Poles.

RIGID TRAFFIC RULES ARE PROPOSED TO MAKE STREETS SAFE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Albany, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Boarding or disembarking from a moving street car would be made an illegal act under a suggested special committee to the convention of the American Electric Railway association.

Pedestrians would not be permitted to walk in a street except at crossings, children would be restricted to playing in streets except at designated times and within certain areas, and pedestrians would move at street intersections in charge of an officer only upon his signal.

Trucks with six wheels or more would not be permitted to run if they jarred the street beds, loads of iron and other heavy material would have to be loaded and five other regulations would be put on parades during the peak hours of traffic and no parade would be permitted to block a street for more than a longer period than five minutes.

CITY FACING TEST, DECLARES HOLMAN

New C. C. Manager Gives Seven Points for Making Janesville Great.

Janesville today faces the supreme test of its future. It must take the choice of meeting the problems of growth or fall down.

This is the first of the first public utterance made by L. O. Holman, new manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, made at the bi-weekly luncheon of the chamber at the Grand hotel today.

The possibilities of Janesville, said Mr. Holman, are such that it can become the supreme city of Wisconsin, not excluding Milwaukee. The spirit of the citizens, he explained, will determine the size of the city in the next few years.

Natural conditions, he said, are to the advantage of a city, he explained, illustrating the statement by the advancement of Flint which met difficulties that it was unable to prevent the growth of the city.

Outlines Seven Points.

Graphically, the speaker gave seven essentials that must enter into the life of the people of this city if the town is to keep pace with its possibilities. These are:

1. Adequate educational facilities. A city, he said, does not dare to let its children grow up without proper education.

2. Proper and adequate housing essential.

3. Proper protection of the interests of the people. Equal opportunity to every citizen. It is good business, he explained, to make every one successful.

4. High standards of culture and beauty. Parks and boulevards, Janesville, he declared, has a city plan that will make it one of the most beautiful cities in the next few years.

5. Adequate educational facilities. A city, he said, does not dare to let its children grow up without proper education.

6. Proper and adequate housing essential.

7. Proper protection of the interests of the people. Equal opportunity to every citizen. It is good business, he explained, to make every one successful.

WUXTREE! 3 NEW STREET CARS HERE

Two More Expected Soon—Prayers of Strap Hangers Finally Answered.

Three new, modern, steel street cars were received in the city this morning over the Chicago & Northwestern railway from Rockford for the local traction system. This is the first shipment of the five new cars for the Janesville lines. They were delivered at the Eastern avenue barns.

Some slight assembling of parts has to be done before they can be placed in operation. Members of the local company, including W. H. Dougherty, attorney, will go to Madison Tuesday to complete the details with the railroad commission to issue notes for the payment of the cars.

Letters sent to 64 contractors with a view to enforcing the ordinance requiring contractors to secure city licenses, City Clerk E. J. Sartell has sent out 64 letters to individuals supposedly coming under the ordinance who have not yet made application. Up to the time of the issue of the letters, he had issued 48 licenses. After Wednesday the matter will be in the hands of police.

CONSIDERATE. "Here's a fine scenario about a girl who sent a letter of forgiveness to her lover and the answer, 'No reply. It won't do,' answered the movie director. 'We're not criticizing the postal system.'—Washington Star.

KRESSIN STARTS SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Charging that she had three times had child arrested in the past year for "no reason at all" and that all members of his family were refused in their house, Henry F. Kressin, Saturday filed divorce action against his wife, Mary Kressin, both of Janesville.

Cruel and inhuman treatment was the charge brought by Nettie M. Chamberlain against her husband, Grant Chamberlain, Fulton, who she claims has always neglected, up to the time of her divorce, her two daughters, Marie, aged 25, and Genevieve, aged 20. The mother and daughters are employed as stenographers in Madison.

THE CITY BUDGET.
By action of the council the city budget of $521,000 has become effective for 1921. It may be said that the budget for no city in Wisconsin has ever been more carefully prepared. Precedent has been broken in making it a public duty to recommend changes and additions therein. It is to be hoped that this will be the established manner of making the budget hereafter. If every citizen will make a note of the things that should be corrected for 1922 it will aid greatly at the time the budget is up again in the fall of 1921.

ABOUT THE BELLOIT ROAD.
In the highway commissioner's defense published in the Gazette, Saturday, stress is laid on the fact that the Beloit-Janesville cement road north of the Town Line bridge has not yet been accepted by the state and will not be accepted until after a thorough inspection and the necessary repairs are made. This is nothing new to Gazette readers. Early in August attention was called to the work on this road by the Gazette and later the state highway commissioner's office was called up and an interview was had with Mr. Hirst. On August 24 a letter of some length was printed in the Gazette from Mr. Hirst telling in detail of an inspection by H. J. Kuelling and F. M. Baisley, of the commission office, both engineers. The Beloit road matter seems to have been injected by the highway commissioner, as some palliation for his own work on the Edgerton road. It is doubtful if the commissioner knew anything about the condition of the Beloit stretch until he read it in the Gazette, and probably nothing of the inspection made until Mr. Hirst's letter was printed.

The Beloit News said Saturday:
The federal government will not send its inspectors to Beloit until the entire highway is completed. When this is done, however, portions of the road should be inspected minutely and no material defects overlooked.
It so happens that H. J. Kuelling, construction engineer, and F. M. Baisley, superintendent of construction for the federal system, have been keeping watch of the road, the first time, in the week of August 15. They went over all the road, new and old, especially that part built in 1910. Of this, Mr. Hirst said in his letter to the Gazette, that they found "that the pavement is good and will remain good for many years to come." And he adds:
We find quite commonly that in the construction of the first concrete road in a neighborhood, the public is wont to expect too much; that the magnificence of the concrete roads we have often received reports that the concrete roads should be perfect in every respect, which is a gross exaggeration. The fact is that they were taking no more than the normal course. This is the case with the Beloit-Janesville road.

This road is built under a contract. It will not be accepted until it is approved by the engineers of the state highway commission. And when it is approved it must be "Wholly satisfactory" and not "moderately satisfactory," as the state highway engineer has reported conditions on the Edgerton road. But even here we may expect, with a state engineer in charge of the "preparation of the subgrade, the erection of the forms and the laying and finishing of the concrete," the section so being built will be even more than "moderately satisfactory."

UNIFORM CHARTERS FOR CITIES.
At the meeting of the mayors and others interested in city government at La Crosse, Tuesday, the largest and most important question will be the new city charter law and uniformity of all charters. This will mean the repeal of the 40 odd special charters granted to cities from 1832 to 1889, including the one for the city of Janesville.
As every city is confronted with about the same questions and has to meet and solve the same problems, there is no reason why all should not come under a general city law. Janesville has needed a more elastic charter. That is already provided by the general charter of the statutes in a measure, but this statute law as to municipalities has been added to and subtracted and changed until it is badly patched. The need of thorough revision, of uniformity, and that all cities of the state act under one law is constantly emphasized. It is to be hoped this law will receive the sanction of the legislature the coming session.

ITALY COMING TO AMERICA.
Three million people of Italy want passage to America. That is almost ten per cent of the antebellum days of that country. Steamship lines are overtaxed and transports are being chartered to carry the great number of immigrants. We can use these men and women on the farms of the nation. But it is a peculiar fact that they generally seek the crowded city, although a great majority are country bred and used to tilling the soil. Here is where we need a properly organized distribution of the immigrants after they arrive—a national employment office where the newcomer may find both satisfactory employment and a home, and the section needing such services as may be supplied. Such an immigration board will be of real value to the nation and a help to the immigrant.

Another evidence of the H. C. L. A girl wants $75,000 for a hug. Maybe she figures it is to be paid in 55 cent dimes.

A dollar is now worth 55 cents. But diamonds have gone up to meet it, so it does not help the poor man much.

Presidential Campaigns

By FREDERICK J. BASKIN.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 11.—The Democratic land-slide of 1892 which placed Grover Cleveland for the second time in the presidential chair marked the failure of the most extraordinary efforts ever made by any party to perpetuate itself in power. When the Republicans came back into their own after the defeat of the first Cleveland administration they left no stone unturned, so far as legislation was concerned, to make their power absolute and to prevent the possibility of another Democratic President.

The first thing the Republicans did under the Harrison administration was to admit six new states to the Union, thereby subjecting themselves to the charge that they sought to assure their party of twelve additional Republican Senators and twenty additional votes in the electoral college. The House of Representatives was Republican by a very narrow margin. The Democrats were unseated by wholesale to give their places to Republican exponents, without regard to the merits of their claims.

Then followed the attempt to enact the Force Bill. Its authors and proponents called it the Federal Election Bill, but it was so odious to the majority of the people of both parties that the name applied by the Democrats stuck to it to this day. This bill provided that all elections for Federal offices, that is, representatives and presidential electors, should be under the direct control of the Federal Government. That meant "carpet-bag" returning boards in the South, supported by bayonets of Federal soldiers and pistols of Federal deputy marshals, and a "solid South" which would have been solidly Republican. The bill would have been solidly Republican. The bill would have been solidly Republican. The bill would have been solidly Republican.

The Force Bill was passed by the House and went to a Republican Senate. There the absolute freedom of unlimited debate gave the Democrats a chance to fight the bill. The Republican Senators from the Far West were not heartily in sympathy with the Force Bill advocates. The western Republicans had long since ceased to be the "bloody shirt" in campaigns, and the Westerners had not known the bitterness of armed conflict. The Democrats held caucus after caucus and decided upon their plans with the greatest care. It was a matter of life and death to them, and they knew it.

Southern senators of the old "rebel brigadier" type—men of culture and polish—were assigned to the West who were the center of the center of the Senate chamber. The talk went on incessantly for days and nights. The whole country was discussing the probability of the Senate's adopting a cloture rule to limit debate.

Finally, about 3 o'clock on a morning, Senator Daniel of Virginia left his seat in the cloak room and shuffled on the floor. Senator Vest of Missouri was speaking. He had been speaking for hours and hours. Daniel whispered to him "It's all right, we have enough votes to beat it." Let Senator Stratford of California is with us. "Let me finish my speech," said Vest, and went on to put a proper rhetorical and oratorical finish on the speech that was meant for nothing but to gain time. The Force Bill was dead. Its advocates knew it and did not press for a vote.

In that fight the Democrats were aided and abetted by two eastern Republicans, and their victory was due in great part to Matthew S. Quay and Don Cameron, Senators from the rock-ribbed Republican state of Pennsylvania. It was to figure in the coming events. It was to figure in the coming events. It was to figure in the coming events.

Harrison over great difficulties, and he naturally supposed that he was to be rewarded for his efforts in the manner that politicians are ever rewarded. He found to his surprise that the victory of 1888. Harrison mortally offended Quay on his first visit to the White House after the inauguration. Harrison also forgot to reply to a telegram of congratulation sent to him on the day after his election by General W. W. Dudley of Indiana, treasurer of the national committee, who in 1880 had organized the famous "blocks of five" system.

The Republicans believed that they had been returned to power on the great issue of protection. The promise was redeemed and the McKinley Bill, the Tariff of 1890, was passed. Major McKinley was chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means and thereby gave his name to the bill, but many of the schedules went in over his protest.

Rightly or wrongly, the whole country rose up in protest and in 1890 the House of Representatives was turned over to the Democrats once more, giving them the largest majority that any party had ever had in that body. That tremendous victory, which swept any office, disheartened the Democrats and gave courage to the Democratic hosts. Then came the great fight for nominations.

Harrison was renominated at Minneapolis by an overwhelming vote. The Federal office holder's machinery was loyal to him and the opposition was divided. Blaine's position as Secretary of State of resigning his position as Secretary of State to make the race. It was as hopeless as was Clay's candidacy for the Whig nomination in 1848. William McKinley was made permanent chairman of the convention, and at the last moment the wavering opposition settled on him. But McKinley was named on the first ballot, Blaine's and McKinley's vote being equal. The blow was too much for Blaine and he died soon, broken in heart and spirit.

Cleveland's third nomination was accomplished only after one of the hardest anti-convention fights ever known. He was opposed by the solid New York delegation, Governor Hill and the Albany machine joining hands with McKinley. McKinley was named on the first ballot, Blaine's and McKinley's vote being equal. The blow was too much for Blaine and he died soon, broken in heart and spirit.

JUST FOLKS

ON DINING WITH QUARRELSOME COUPLES.
I freely confess there are good friends of mine with whom we are often invited to dine. Who get on my nerves so that I cannot eat. Or stay with my usual ease in my seat. For I know that if something should chance for I know it.

Which he may not like or which doesn't please her. That will have to try to be pleasant somehow. While they stage a fine little family row.

Now a family row is a private affair. And guests, I am certain, should never be there. I have freely maintained that a man and a woman cannot always agree on their journey through life. But they ought not to bicker and wrangle and show off their rage when their friends are about. It takes all the joy from a party. I vow. When some couple starts up a family row.

It's a difficult job to stay cool and polite. When your host and your hostess are in a row. It's hard to talk sweet to a dame with a frown. Or smile at a man that you want to knock down.

You sit like a dummy and look far away. You just can't help hearing the harsh things they say. It ruins the dinner. I'm telling you now. When your host and your hostess get mixed in a row.

Who's Who Today

SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD.
As chief secretary for Ireland, Sir Hamar Greenwood is an important figure in the Irish situation which is hourly becoming more acute. Sir Hamar was named to the British cabinet post that controls Irish affairs a few months ago. He was chosen because he is regarded as having a broad, liberal outlook, well inclined to the dominion side of the issue.

He was born and educated in Canada and was an official in the Canadian government before coming to England. He became a practicing barrister.

He served as a lieutenant colonel in the war and was made a baronet five years ago. He has been a member of the house of commons for ten years.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

In fact, while there is little chance of Leno's defeat, there is just chance enough to root it a highly important matter to give Leno a fair chance of being elected. Reinsch stands a chance of winning, and democrats who see the evil of a non-partisan league regime should support Leno. (Vauclav Record-Herald (Rep.)

So far as one can learn, Blaine, for governor, and Comings, for lieutenant governor, are opposed to the repeal of the liquor laws. Blaine and Comings are really for President Wilson and the democrats, while the other side of the coin is for President Wilson and the democrats. LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
October 11, 1880.—Barnes and Hodson's mill will be closed down for two or three weeks while improvements are made on the mill. The mill is in all respects.—Word has been received here of the shooting of a man named Muhara at Monroe by S. Burkner.

THIRTY-ONE YEARS AGO
October 11, 1889.—Many improvements have been made in the equipment at the local gas factory. New buildings have been erected, new boilers and other machinery installed, and while the gas has not been reduced, the consumers are now getting a much richer mixture. Harry Merrill is superintendent.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
October 11, 1900.—The high school class football games began at Alhulde park yesterday, the sophomores beating the freshmen, 11-0. John Johnson, Eliza, was brought before Judge Field in municipal court this morning and pleaded guilty to having a set line, and was fined $10.

TEN YEARS AGO
October 11, 1910.—George Wheeler, formerly Y. M. C. A. physical director here, is now situated in Miles City, Montana.—Miss Letitia Shortney, trained nurse here, died at her home on Main street last night after suffering a stroke.

ment. He and Harrison are the only Presidents who succeeded each other. They are the only two who twice rode down Pennsylvania Avenue at the head of the inaugural procession. It has been said that in 1882 was the first time that a party had been retired from power during prosperous times, but as the panic of 1893 was directly approaching the statement is hardly fair. The election of Cleveland by such a great majority was a forerunner of the great radical unrest which was to reach the flood-tide at the next election.

THE FINGERS MAKE MISCHIEF

It is to many sufferers a painful question why one boils so. Long ago Old Doctor Bunk intimated in his spring tonic or blood purifier almanac that a crop or succession of boils indicated "corruption" coming to the surface. This explanation made a big hit with the credulous readers, and, moreover, it helped sell many bottles of Doctor Bunk's concoctions, for once the victim began taking the junk cures and the assurance that the medicine was "driving the impurities out of the system." Of all the idiotic notions the grand old public has been in on this one of credence driving poison in or out through or under is the most insane, though it is still one of the biggest selling points the nostrum venders have.

We need not postulate any particular fault of the blood in order to account for boils, scabies, or other skin eruptions. A boil is a little abscess, and an abscess is a collection of pus. Pus (commonly with the issue substance breaks down and dies, together with the dead bodies of innumerable millions of scavenger cells (white blood corpuscles, phagocytes). These scavenger cells make their way through the delicate walls of the microscopic capillary blood vessels and surround the tissues to attack invading germs; if the scavenger cells or phagocytes win, they swallow or more properly, engulf the germs and destroy the invaders—while the pus, which is the waste product of the germs and the scavenger cells, is the waste product of the germs and the scavenger cells, is the waste product of the germs and the scavenger cells.

The germs responsible for the boil gain entrance through some minute or unnoticed break in the skin. The bacteria, which are the cause of such a condition, are produced by a rough collar band or the friction of some part of the clothing on the skin. The healthy, clean skin constantly has a thin film of pus-forming bacteria on its surface, and if they find their way into the skin. Playing this role seems to occur or increase the virulence of the germs.

One of the most difficult features in first aid for wounds is insistence on strict policy of "hands off." It is human nature to touch the wound with the fingers, and this impulse is even stronger in the case of a boil. Now, once the finger touches a boil or the skin over a boil, the fingers are contaminated with pus-producing germs, and may readily convey the pus-producing germs to new fields, implanting them for production of new boils. This, then, is the usual explanation for the second and all subsequent boils. There is no excuse for ever touching a boil.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Would I detest Cream? The following reducing cream: Vasoline, 25 grams, lanolin, 25 grams, petrolatum, 15 grams, tincture of benzoin, 15 drops. I want some good local application for my face, but I don't want to use it in the bust. (J. H. T.)
ANSWER.—If the food of potash is absorbed through the skin at all, which is very doubtful—it would produce the systemic effects of the drug. You are likely to be very sensitive to iodine. It would have no effect on your weight or on the size of any wart. The use of local application will reduce or develop the warts or any other limited part of the body.

Cramps While Swimming
I am a boy 12 years old. Please tell me what causes cramps while swimming. Does it do any good to rub whiskey or witch hazel or any liniment on the muscles of a swimmer? My mother reads all your articles and turns twelve somersaults each night and morning.
ANSWER.—When an actual cramp is felt in the muscles while swimming, it is due to overexertion and the water is very cold such a cramp is more likely to come. Measures as drawing the muscles up and cramps are not so caused. It is doubtful whether rubbing with anything is of any advantage in such a contest. One cause of sudden drowning is going down to the bottom of the water into the inner ear, if there appears to be a constant burrowing who have such an opening in the ear drum should insert a loose packing of cotton in the ear before going in swimming.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Francis J. Maslin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. Are there any states where children do not have to go to school?
A. R.

Q. The Bureau of Education says that all of the states have compulsory attendance laws, requiring that children attend school at least until they are 14 years of age.

Q. How many times has Harry Vardon won the British open championship?
A. C. C. V.

Q. Harry Vardon, the English golf professional, has won the British open championship six times, a record which has never been equaled.

Q. What per cent of disability is required in order to receive vocational education?
A. E.

Every man who was 10 per cent disabled during the world war is entitled to vocational training to him to earn his own living.

Q. Is platinum a soft or hard metal?
A. B. O. S.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that pure platinum, though harder than copper, silver or gold, is a soft metal. It is ductile and malleable, and can be hammered, rolled, drawn, and welded.

Q. When was the subway built in New York city?
A. T. C. V.

A. Underground transit in New York city was first provided for the commission in January, 1900. Work began in that year, and a road constructed from one end of Manhattan to the other. It was opened to the public on Oct. 24, 1904, the first day of the year.

Q. Brooklyn was decided upon in May, 1901, and finished shortly after the Manhattan line.

Q. What is the origin of the expression "blocks of five" in politics?
A. M. C.

A. In the campaign of 1880 a "practical" politician on an individual basis a plan for handling the purchasable vote in that state in "blocks of five."

Q. What is the story in connection with the saying "the rich live in glass houses"?
A. R. H.

A. This is an old proverb and there is a story to the effect that it was popularized in England by James I. When the Scotch came into England with James it often happened that the windows of their houses were broken at the instance of the Duke of Buckingham and others. In retaliation, the Scots broke the windows of the rich houses of the English. He complained to the king, who replied "Those who live in glass houses, gentlemen, should be careful how they throw stones."

Q. Who is the youngest player in the big league?
A. P. E.

A. The youngest player in major league ball is Frank Frisch of the New York Giants, who is 20 years old.

Q. Why was the convention, which was known as the Albany convention, held in that small city in 1754, rather than in New York or Boston?
A. M. W.

A. Albany was selected because it was in the heart of the Iroquois nation and it was the best place in which to negotiate with the Iroquois for the purpose of establishing friendly relations.

Q. What is an oriel window?
A. M. W.

A. An oriel window is a bay window of an upper story, supported by brackets. In France, as in England, the oriel window is a feature of late Gothic or early Renaissance style of architecture.

Q. What is the distance through the world north and south, also east and west?
A. H. H. R.

A. The equatorial diameter of the earth, that is from east to west, is 7,926 miles; the polar diameter is 7,900.5 miles.

Q. Appleton.—Insurance against accident, illness and death was provided for the 150 employees of the Appleton Coated Paper company through adoption of a group insurance plan. Payments aggregating half the weekly earnings will be paid in case of illness or accident and $1,000 face value of the policies, is due in case of total disability or death. Premiums are paid jointly by the company and the employees, each paying half. The insurance company will maintain a health center at Appleton and also provide the services of two trained nurses who will be available in case of illness in employees' families. Four Appleton companies have adopted group insurance plans within the last year.

HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1920.
Many kindly stars smile today, according to astrology, and it should be a lucky day. While the Sun and Neptune rule success for good, Jupiter, Mercury and Venus are all in benefic aspect.

Above all things else the Sun dominates earthly lives and gives group to all who rule, whether over small or large domains.

During this sway there will be a tendency to assert the right to complete justice, but justly will temper judgment, so that there will be less arrogance than is usually assumed.

The planetary ruler is Venus, auspicious for all who seek fame or glory. During this government of the stars all candidates will be sanguine and confident.

All the unseen forces are believed to contribute to physical health and to the consciousness of intellectual force. This success is assured in all endeavors that are carried forward with enthusiasm.

At this time men should be quick to accept the aims of women in all states, but justice will temper judgment, so that there will be less arrogance than is usually assumed.

Again newspapers and magazines benefit greatly by new conditions making increased demands for publicity. Women should benefit wonderfully at this time, and one who is young will enjoy support and admiration.

Cou of law and great audience chambers are supposed to be under a planetary rule making for wisdom, calmness and vision on the part of all who have authority.

This should be a most profitable day for all who buy and sell merchandise that appears to be in demand. Modest milliners, importers, jewelers and all art dealers have the best possible direction of the planetary forces.

Artists of every sort should partake of this day's benefits. There is a most encouraging sign for actors and actresses.

Theaters should prosper during this week, which will be especially favorable for new productions.

Persons whose birthdates end in the augury of a quiet and happy year.

Children born on this day have the augury of success and long life. They may be rather nervous, but exceedingly keen in intellect.

The Gasoline Situation in 1910 and Now

IN 1910 there were approximately 400 thousand cars in the United States.

To operate these cars there was available a gasoline production of 750 million gallons, or, approximately, 1875 gallons per car.

In 1919 there were more than 7 million cars and trucks operating in the United States.

To supply these engines there was available, according to Bureau of Mines Report, 3 billion, 957 million gallons of gasoline, or, approximately, 565 gallons per car.

In neither case has consideration been given to the demand of tractors, stationary gas engines, or the gasoline required by the arts and industries. Nor have we considered the large volume of this product shipped abroad annually.

The above figures are presented so that you may visualize one of the problems the petroleum industry has been called upon to solve in the past decade.

In 1910 the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) marketed about 20 percent of the gasoline output of the United States, or approximately 150 million gallons. In 1919 this Company sold about 640 million gallons of gasoline, or about 17 percent of the total for that year.

It has been the task of the 7 men who manage the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for the 5124 stockholders, not one of whom owns as much as 10 percent of the total, to expand the organization not only to keep pace with, but to keep ahead of the extraordinary and persistent demand for gasoline.

How well they have succeeded is illustrated clearly by the fact that in the 10-year period above mentioned, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has taken a leading part in increasing gasoline production 440 percent, while crude oil production increased only 94 percent.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:

Your letter on politics interested me very much, and when you say you wouldn't accept the election for president if it was offered to you why you don't shock me as much as you might think. Not that I don't believe you'd make a good president. We've had homely presidents before, and when you once get to talking there ain't any stopping you, and I don't doubt but what you've got other recommendations too. My objections are purely personal. By nature I shun notoriety—don't you remember how I refused to give that reporter my photograph the time we had the fire in the back kitchen?—and I believe being a president's wife infringes on your privacy.

But still, as you say, if the baby feels it his duty to be president when he grows up, we ought to be the last ones to try to stop him, and if his wife feels as much about it, let her fight her own battles. I looked at the little angel lying there so innocent this morning and the thought came over me that at one time in their life all the presidents we ever had must of looked exactly the same way.

Meanwhile I keep reading the different political speeches so in case I decide to vote I'll at least know what the main candidates think of themselves and what they think of each other. It seems to be a tie in both respects so far. Mrs. Fink says we ought to know what the big issues are even if we forget who stands for which. Do you think we'll ever have a lady president, Joe? I kind of hope not, because in that case then her husband would be known as the first gentleman of the land, and can you imagine that, Joe?

No riding lesson today, and all in all it's a kind of a relief. If you know what I mean. Maybe it's a relief for that horse, too.

Love,

Tessie.

Tomorrow Joe throws some sidelights on the troubles of the G. Chaplins.

Your New Top Coat May Be a Cape

By ELOISE.

So much has been said of the wrappy coats with their luxuriant folds and loose sleeves that we are likely to forget that there are other coats and wraps for winter wear. The sports and business wraps have been quite neglected, but with the first good hiking and motoring days interest will be renewed by the practical and warm coats. The top coat and cape is a favorite style for all general utility wear. Either is popular with the woman who likes to be properly groomed for every occasion. Here are three of the newest models for sports and motoring, which will last for years.

well as practical. A coat of tan wool duvety is shown at the left. It is a manly style garment, unbelted with large roomy pockets with flaps. This coat may be worn at any hour of the day as a top coat and is particularly good for wear over a suit.

The plaid homespun coat in the center will be welcomed by the woman who cannot stand two coats because of the tightness of the sleeves. It has graceful lines and provides an extra warmth that scarcely any wind could penetrate. It is also rain-proofed. There are roomy slits for the arms and a deep collar. This makes a utility wrap which will last for years.

The sport cape at the left shows how pretty and dainty sport clothes can be made. It is fashioned of leather with a reversible lining of brushed wool. The wool forms a deep collar which reaches to the bottom of the cape. This makes a smart costume when worn with a small hat and over a short walking suit.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH H. THOMPSON
Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a bride of nine months. My husband is very good to me and I really have no reason to complain about him. There is one thing, however, which I do not like.

Before we were married he roomed and boarded in a house where there was a sick man and his wife. These people rented the house, the man became worse and was taken to a certain kind of hospital. The woman became heart-broken and cried by the hour. She began to lean upon my husband and as she had no children of her own she looked upon him as a son. She asked my husband to go to the hospital with her to have him see what he thought of her husband's condition. He went the first time and then before long was asked to go again. This kept up until almost every Sunday afternoon is taken up with this duty. My husband does not like to go, but at the same time he hates to disappoint the woman. She never asks me if it will be convenient, but phones him at work and asks him. What would you advise me to do so that I will have more time on Sunday with my husband?

MARGORY H.
I presume your husband will be glad to co-operate with you in any way that will relieve him from what he feels to be a duty. Instead of letting come what may on Sunday, plan something definitely. If it is only the reading of a chapter in a book. Ask your husband to tell the woman that you and he have plans and that he can't go with her. After he has refused several times she will be less ready to make her request.

The spirit of willingness to help some one who is troubled is certainly to be admired. Do very carefully not to discourage it in your husband. If he goes with the woman once a month he will certainly be kept up to his good work. There are little things you could do too, such as sending a tempting bit of food to the sick man, or inviting the lonely wife to your house to dinner. Your husband will love you for your co-operative spirit and will be all the more ready to respect your wishes in regard to Sunday.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a certain young man for two years. For the last year we have been engaged and during that time both of us have worked hard planning our future together. I have bought pretty linens, bedding and pieces of silver for our home, while he has been saving to build a house. We have our lot bought and quite a little to pay for the building. Lately my fiance has not been well. He has had much overwork and has stopped his overtime work and spent only eight hours a day at the office. He still feels so tired, however, that he went to a doctor. The doctor says that he is tubercular.

You haven't any idea how we feel. We expected to be married at Thanksgiving time, stay in a furnished apartment for a few months and in the spring build.

The doctor says that my fiance can be cured, but he advises us not to marry. It will break my heart not to do so and I feel that it is my duty to stand by the man I love. What would you advise?

MARGARET.
Follow the advice of the physician. She says your fiance can be cured, you have a great deal to be thankful for. It seems to me that you will be happier in the end if he spends a few months or a year getting well and you busy yourself during that time with your work, continuing your preparations for a little home of your own. If you and he married he would feel great responsibilities, from which he will be relieved if you remain single.

Both of you must keep from worrying. Tuberculosis can be cured, and you must have faith that it will be in this case.

1900 and 1910. The number of farms in Wisconsin as shown by the 1920 census figures is 159,126. Marathon county had the greatest increase in Wisconsin, during the last ten years, 2%. Milwaukee county showed an increase of 121 in number of farms.

Tomalawick—Mayor Tyler of this city lost $25,000 in the forest fire at Spirit Falls, 15 miles west of here. The loss consisted of 500,000 feet of log wood, hemlock and hardwood and 500 cords of pulpwood. No insurance was carried.

Eau Claire—The four-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Meek was run over and crushed by a truck. The child was watching a foot ball game in the street. He was standing close to a telephone pole, as his mother told him, when the truck backed up and caught him.

Stanley—Thieves blow open the safe in the Stanley post office securing $100 in cash and stamps, but failed to get in the strong box in the interior of the safe. It is believed they arrived on the midnight train and left by automobile.

Wausau—Louis Lootz was arraigned in court charged with killing partridges and pleaded guilty. He was given a minimum fine of $50 and an addition fine of $5 for each bird. This figured to $10. He owns a rifle, shot gun, his automobile, and hunting license.

Milwaukee—According to word from Washington there are 12,069 more farms in Wisconsin than there were 10 years ago, an increase of 6.3 per cent. This compares with the increase of 7,252 farms between

RECIPES FOR A DAY.
Calcutta Rice—One cup rice, one cup tomatoes, four cups water, two tablespoons shortening, one large onion, one small pepper, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one and one-half teaspoons curry. Pour the water in warm place for 30 minutes. Moisten curry powder and add. Add the other ingredients chopped fine and cook covered for an hour. Do not stir.
Flank Steak—Potatoes (Braubaut).—This is very good and uses a cheap cut of meat. In bottom of roaster and casserole put a few slices of onion and a little parsley. Then put in one and one-half pounds of flank steak. Beat an egg and pour over this, add the rest of the onion and a little more parsley. Pour a cup of soup stock and one-half cup of water over this; add pepper and salt and roast an hour in the oven. Thicken the gravy and pour over the meat. The potatoes are cut in two lengthwise, parboiled and roasted in oven at the same time as the meat.

Cold Slaw (Southern Style)—This is a very good salad and somewhat unusual. Melt together one-half cup bacon gravy, one-half cup vinegar (reduced) and one tablespoon brown sugar. Cut cabbage with a little green pepper, onion or celery and add to the above. Let it stand for an hour before serving.
BREADS AND CAKES
Boston Brown Bread—One cup cornmeal, two cups graham flour, one-half cup molasses, two cups sour milk or water, one cup raisins, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt. Steam three hours.
Bran Bread—Three cups bran, three cups flour, one cup brown sugar, three teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon cream tartar, yolks soda, one pine of sour milk, three tablespoons of molasses, one cup of raising. Bake in slow oven one hour. Make three loaves in bread pan.

Hickorynut Cake—One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one-half cup sweet milk, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cream tartar, yolks of three eggs, two cups (not quite full) flour, one cup hickorynut meats, flavor to taste.
Here is a recipe which uses the whites of the eggs:
Silver Cake—One cup sugar, one-quarter cup butter, whites of two eggs, one-half cup cold water, three-quarters cup flour, three-quarters cup cornstarch, one teaspoon baking powder. Stir five minutes. Bake in a loaf.
Potato Chocolate Cake—This old-time dainty is delicious. Bake in two angel food cakes. Grate and flour the pan and then rub sufficient hot, boiled potato through a sieve to measure two-thirds cup. Place in a mixing bowl and add one cup of sugar, one-half cup of shortening, two eggs, cream well and then add one cup of powdered cocoa, one and one-half cups of flour, one level tablespoon of baking powder, one teaspoon of cinnamon, one teaspoon of vanilla, one teaspoon of nutmeg. Beat six and then add one and one-half cups of finely chopped peanuts.

 I SAID "The wind."
 AND TRIED to sleep.
 I HEARD rappings.
 AND SAID "Rats."
 AND ROLLED over.
 THEN I heard steps.
 AND IN the light.
 OF A dying moon.
 A WHITE spook rose.
 I WASN'T scared—much.
 BUT DIDN'T feel like
 STARTING ANYTHING.
 BUT THEN I caught
 JUST A faint whiff.
 OF A familiar.
 AND DELICIOUS smell.
 WHICH TIPPED me off
 SO I gave the ghost.
 THE HORSE laugh.
 AND SAID "Ed.
 YOU FAT gurs.
 MAKE BUM ghosts.
 BUT BEFORE you fade.
 LEAVE WITH me one.
 OF YOUR cigarettes.
 THEY SATISFY."

*In packages of 20 protected by special moisture-proof wrapper.
 Also in round AIR-TIGHT tin of 50.*

THAT spicy, delicious aroma of fine tobacco,
 both Turkish and Domestic, makes you almost hungry for the "satisfy-smoke." And there isn't a ghost of a chance you'll ever find its equal anywhere—for the Chesterfield blend is an exclusive blend. It can't be copied.

They Satisfy
